LOATHSOME URNS, DISCLOSE YOUR TREASURE
From "The Triumph of Time and Truth" (1737)

Edited by Ebenezer Prout

GEORGE FRIDERIC HANDEL

Larghetto \( \left( \text{d} = 66 \right) \)

Piano

Bass

Loathsome urns, disclose your treasure,
Pride and pleasure, Unveil to me, That...

Copyright MCMV by Oliver Ditson Company

ML-1155-4
I may see

If now any spark of beauty still remains, still remains. If now any spark of beauty still remains. Un-colla voce

Adagio

Tempo I

veil to me, Loath-some urns, unveil to me, That I may see If now any spark of beauty in you remains, Un-veil to me, That I may see,

If now any spark of beauty still remains, still remains, If now any spark of beauty still remains, If now any spark of beauty still remains.

Adagio

a tempo

colla voce
No! all dark as night!

Ty·rant worms their prey en·joy·ing, Dust and ash·es still de·stroy·ing, Which my greed·y tooth dis·dains, Which my greed·y tooth dis·dains, Which my greed·y tooth dis·dains.

Adagio

colla voce

Da Capo

Da Capo

Fine

Fine